Manuscripts must have a 1-inch margin on all sides. First page of the manuscript should show the title of the paper, authors(s)' affiliation and contact information, and a one-paragraph (approximately 100 words) abstract of the article that provides a brief overview of the paper. Second page of the manuscript, which will be used for blind review process, should only contain the title of the paper and a one-paragraph (approximately 100 words) abstract of the article that provides a brief overview of the paper.
- B. Authors' Commitment. While their papers are under the review process at JBF&E, authors commit not to send their submitted works to any other publication for review purposes.
- C. Equations should be numbered consecutively, with the number in parentheses and flush with the right margin. Equations should be clearly explained in the text, and derivations or proofs may be relegated to an appendix. All equations must fall within the same margins that are required for the text; that is, they should have a 1-inch margin on all sides.
- D. Tables and figures should be placed in the text where appropriate and labeled in numerical order with Roman numeral. Label tables at the top and follow the heading with a description of the table in sufficient detail so that it is capable of standing alone. Label figures in the same manner. All tables and figures must fall within the same margins that are required for the text; that is, they should have a 1-inch margin on all sides.
- E. References
References, unnumbered, single-spaced within and double-spaced between, must be typed on a separate page or pages and listed in alphabetical order. Place references list at the end of the manuscript but before tables and figures. Examples of references are provided in below.
